Nicole Bianchi is widely regarded as the go-to source for bravery + leadership and the author of Small Brave Moves: Learn why little acts of bravery are the key to life-changing leadership and Five Tough Talks: How to lead brave conversations for exceptional results released in August 2023.

She shatters the false belief that only some of us are brave by showing us what gets in the way, and she shows us the path forward with practical steps to help us advance.

After sixteen years as an executive in two Fortune 300 companies, Nicole co-founded and scaled Bravium HD, which partners with companies like Google, GE, and Macy’s.

She is an international speaker, author, and award-winning entrepreneur who works with executives, leaders, and teams to craft their small brave moves.

Off-stage, Nicole loves traveling with her husband and cheering on her three young adult children in life. You can catch her singing off-key karaoke with a full-bodied glass of wine in hand.
